Herbert Hoover Says Supreme Court Must Not Be Made Servile

Chicago, Feb. 20.—(AP)—Herbert Hoover tonight called for "hands off the supreme court."

Addressing the Union League Club, the former president said President Roosevelt's court proposal has created the "greatest constitutional question in these 70 years" and has placed the nation "face to face with the proposition that the supreme court shall be made subjective to the executive.'

"Stripped to its bare bones," Mr. Hoover continued, "that is the heart of this proposal. And that reaches to the very center of human liberty. The ultimate safeguard of liberty is the independence of the judiciary."

The "real issue' in the supreme court question, Mr. Hoover said, "is whether the president by appointment of additional judges shall revise the constitution—or whether change in the constitution shall be submitted to the people as the constitution itself provides."

Declaring that the constitution provides "an open and above board method" by which social changes can be accomplished, the speaker asked:

"What is all the hurry in this? The nation is recovering from the depression. There is no emergency. Surely a year or two is no waste in the life of a great nation when its liberties are the stake of haste.

"If historic liberalism cannot be maintained under the present provisions of the constitution, I shall be the first to support the president in amendment of it."

Mr. Hoover, declared "it is a magnificent thing for the nation that the debate upon it (the supreme court proposal) has risen far above partisanship. The proposal is too grave to be dealt with on such terms. It is an inspiring thing that in this question the leadership to maintain the integrity of the American form of government has been begun by eminent Senators belonging to the president's own party.

Turning to President Roosevelt's proposals, Mr. Hoover said "we may quickly dismiss the secondary parts x x x. We can accept the view that justice would be expedited if we had more federal district courts. There may not be enough circuit courts of appeal.

"But there can be only one supreme court. Here, Mr. Roosevelt demands the power to appoint a new justice parallel with every existing justice who is over 70 years of age. This means that two-thirds of the court, or six of them, are to be given a sort of intellectual nurse, having half the vote of each patient.

"It is the implications of this proposal which have thrust us with startling suddenness into an issue greater and deeper than any in our generation. x x x

"But the president's proposal is far deeper and more far-reaching in purpose than these details."

In the light of background, Mr. Hoover related, "no one can conclude other than that the president seeks to secure a supreme court not that will find in accordance with the constitution as it stands, but rather than will revise the constitution so it will mean what he wishes it to mean.

"And this is not a loose assertion. Mr. Roosevelt himself specifically confirms this purpose. In his message to Congress, he says that if these proposals be accepted then 'we will be relieved of the necessity of considering any fundamental change in the powers of the courts or the constitution of our government.'

Declaring that "we have builded over these two centuries certain sacred rights which are the very soul of human freedom," Mr. Hoover said these rights are no stronger than their safeguards, adding:

"And these safeguards, none is so final and so imperative as the independence of the courts. It is here alone where the humblest citizen and the weakest minority have their only sanctuary."

The former president said "we have already gone far on the road of personal government," and declared "the American people must halt when it is proposed to lay hands on the independence of the supreme court. That is the ultimate security of every cottage. It is the last safeguard of free men."

PRESIDENT GIVES ADVANCE SIGNAL FOR LEGISLATION

No Hint Of Compromise On Court Measure Given Out

Washington, Feb. 20.—(AP)—President Roosevelt gave congressional leaders tonight a signal to go ahead with legislation for reorganizing the courts.

Senators emerging from the second of two conferences at the White House forecast that the senate judiciary committee would begin work Monday on the president's proposals to name six new justices to the supreme court. Hearings will be held, it was indicated.

The senators said there was no talk of compromise at the White House. As the legislators left, Thomas Corcoran, presidential adviser who is widely credited with helping draft the court program, went in to dine with the president.

Two of the dozen senators who attended the conferences tonight, Frazier (R-ND) and Nye (R-ND), already were opposed to the presidential idea, and they said afterward they had not changed their attitude.

Others who attended the second conference were LaFollette, Wisconsin Progressive, and Bone and Schwellenbach, Washington Democrats. Bone has proposed a constitutional amendment as a possible substitute for the court reorganization. Schwellenbach and LaFollette have sided with the president.

Earlier the president went over his battle plans for more than an hour and a half with Vice President Garner and a half dozen senators backing his drive.

Senator Robinson, the Democratic leader, acted as spokesman when the group was questioned afterwards by reporters.

"It is believed the measure is progressing in a satisfactory way," he said.

"What do you mean by progress?—The bill hasn't moved yet," one newsman asked.

"No, but it will move," Robinson replied as he stepped into an automobile with Garner and departed.

Those who attended the meeting included Senators Harrison of Mississippi, Ashurst of Arizona, chairman of the judiciary committee; Barkley of Kentucky, Black of Alabama and Byrnes of South Carolina. Senator Guffey of Pennsylvania, a leading supporter of the court proposals, had been scheduled to attend but did not do so.

NEW COMMISSAR

Moscow, Feb. 20.—(AP)—Belief grew here tonight that Russia's new commissar of heavy industry, when named, will visit the United States or send an important mission there.

Ambassador Alexander Troyanovsky, cabling condolences from Washington on the death of Gregori K. Ordzhonikidze, referred to reports the late industries commissar had planned a trip to the United States.

SYNTHETIC SKUNK

Rochester, N. Y., Feb. 20.—(AP)—Acting as a "stand in" for mother nature, the organic chemicals department of the Eastman Kodak Co., is manufacturing a synthetic skunk odor as a fire warning aid to miners working underground.

The manufacture of Butyl Mercaptan, the scientists' name for the smell that heralds the presence of the black and white-striped wood pussy, is a valuable means of warning miners of fire.

FIND NUDE BODY OF SCHOOL GIRL BURIED IN WELL

Disbelieve Story Of Man Who Says He Ran Into Her

Authorities Will Try to Prove Criminal Attack

Coatesville, Pa., Feb. 20.—(AP)—Alexander Meyer, 20-year-old farmer, led police today to the nude body of Helen Moyer, 16, concealed in a deep well of an abandoned farm where he said he tossed the girl after accidentally killing her with his truck on February 11.

The girl's left leg was dismembered below the knee. Blood stains were on her head and chest. The body lay under 18 inches of water, rock and dirt blown down by two sticks of dynamite which Meyer said he exploded to better conceal it.

After questioning Meyer for two hours, District Attorney Raymond Reid said he did not believe the man's story of an accident.

"We believe he attacked the girl first and then killed her," Reid said. "We are going to hold an autopsy and this, we believe, will carry out our conviction. We are going to place a charge of murder against him."

Reid said Jennie Watterson, 16, identified Meyer as the man who attempted to attack her a week before Helen's death. Jennie was struck on the head with a blackjack, but she escaped.

Helen, a sopohomore in the Coatesville high school, disappeared nine days ago while walking to her home at Modena, three miles south of here.

Her shoes, hat, school books and two pieces of broken automobile headlight lens were found scattered along the Modena road. For days police, Boy Scouts and residents searched the countryside in vain for some clue to her disappearance.

Arrested while delivering a truck load of milk at Wayne today, Meyer told County Detective Francis Grubb and state police he became panic-stricken after his green truck struck the girl.

The clue that led to Meyer's arrest was furnished by a negro employed in a Coatesville junk yard. He told police he had seen a green truck on the road the afternoon the girl vanished. He said he saw the truck stop, bump into a pole in turning around, and then speed off toward Coatesville. Green paint was found on the pole.

With this information, police began tracing the owners of green trucks and the investigation led to Meyer, son of a Philadelphia coal broker.

Mrs. I. Eaton Hurt In Accident Here Early This Morning

Two Other Occupants of Car Escape Serious Injuries West of City

Mrs. I. W. Eaton, 717 Jordan street, sustained a cut on her face, and two other persons were believed to have escaped injury in a crash involving an empty motor transport and a car driven by Mrs. Eaton at 1:15 this morning on the curve near the Tommy Store on Mound Road.

Mrs. Eaton, who was driving, accompanied by her husband and Bill Lipsmire, attempted to turn across the road onto Mound avenue when the collision occurred. The Chevrolet coach, in which they were riding was badly demolished, and the bumper and fender of the transport truck were bent.

Mrs. Eaton had a severe gash on her face, but did not accept offers to be taken to the hospital for treatment. Her husband had a cut on his hand. Lipsmire disappeared immediately after the accident, but it was said he was not injured.

The transport was driven by Harold E. Adams, of 919 W. St. Josephs street, Lansing, Michigan, for the C. and J. motor transport company.

CLOTHING—$3500.

Jacksonville, Fla., Feb. 20—(AP)—Paul Whiteman, orchestra leader, reported to police today that thieves broke into his motor car last night and made off with clothing valued at $3,500.

He said the loot, taken from his car outside the ball where his orchestra played for a concert and dance, included one seal coat worth between $500 and $1,000.

TENT CITY

Marion, Ill., Feb. 20.—(AP)—Red Cross officials today announced plans for a "tent city" on high ground near Shawneetown in order to permit flood refugees of that city to be near their homes for rehabilitation work. Shawneetown remains inundated, with water 20 feet deep in some sections.

Horner Is Unable To Arrange Peace Meet In Waukegan Strike

Waukegan, Ill., Feb. 20.—(AP)—Gov. Henry Horner interceded tonight in peace negotiations of the four day old "sit down" strike at two Fansteel Metallurgical Corporation plants in North Chicago, but failed in an attempt to bring employes and company officials together at a conference.

Meanwhile, Martin P. Durkin, state labor director, pronounced the situation the "most serious" since 82 workers took up their posts behind nailed doors of the company's factories. He said there was little hope of immediate settlement of the dispute.

Through Durkin the governor tonight invited the strikers to form a committee and meet with him at the state capital tomorrow. Durkin said the strikers agreed to the plan, provided the committee members were not arrested when they left the plant and held on contempt of court charges pending against them. Durkin said he gave them that guarantee.

From the plant Durkin went to corporation headquarters and submitted the proposal to company officials, but President Robert J. Aitchison declined to attend the meeting, saying the situation at the plant was so tense he could not leave.

Gov. Horner announced immediately from his executive mansion at Springfield that the conference was "called off." He said he had no further plans for negotiations, but would keep in constant touch with the strike. He said the possibility he would go to North Chicago to take personal charge of the dispute was "remote."

Later Aitchison said he desired to reconsider his refusal, and conferred again at length with Durkin. After the meeting he said he had been given no assurance the conference would not be attended by what he referred to as professional "cutside" labor agitators, and that unless he had that assurance he would not attend.

Unable to reach Gov. Horner by telephone, he telegraphed him he was ready to meet with a committee consisting solely of strikers. Then his wire turned to law enforcement, and he asked: "Will the court order for the restoration of the company's plant be enforced by state and county officers? The question confronting you as governor is whether the duly constituted authorities can and will enforce the law."

When Durkin visited the strike bound plants, where the workers have defied a court order directing their ejection, he was accompanied by Robert Pilkington and John O'Connor, federal conciliators, and Patrick Cullen and A. L. McInerney of the Illinois Labor department. They stated their purpose, a barricaded door was unlatched and swung open and they were permitted to keep inside.

They presented their plan to Carl Swanson, spokesman for the strikers and secretary of Local 66 of the Amalgamated association of Iron, Steel and Tin Workers. He conferred with the sit-downers and announced their decision.

Deputies armed with clubs and baseball bats patrolled the grounds outside the beleagured buildings but made no move for a new raid on the workers strongholds.

President R. J. Aitchison called for intervention of Gov. Henry Horner after state and federal conciliators strove to bring both sides together without avail.

He declared the management would not open negotiations until the "sit downers" vacated the company's property and would not deal with Committees for Industrial Organization leaders under any circumstances.

The sheriff's attempts to enforce the court order was repulsed by acid throwing and violence, his statement said in part. "Sheriff Doolittle has advised the governor of his inability to cope with the situation and has requested state assistance. We have advised Mr. Durkin (State Labor Director Martin P. Durkin) action by Gov. Horner is essential. The matter of law enforcement is now squarely before the authorities of state and county."

Owen Young Weds Mrs. Louise Clark At St. Augustine

Industrial Leader Marries Attractive Widow In Church Ceremony

St. Augustine, Fla., Feb. 20.—(AP)—Owen D. Young, 63, one of America's industrial and financial leaders, and Mrs. Louise Powis Clark, 50, an attractive widow, were married here today before their children and a small gathering of friends.

The Rev. Armand T. Eyler performed the simple ceremony in Trinity Episcopal church, which was decorated in wild plum blossoms. Young and his bride were unattended. Mrs. Young's mother, the widow of the late Walter Van Renselaer Powis of New York, gave her daughter in marriage.

The bride wore an afternoon gown of midnight blue crepe roma with a straw hat of matching color. Her flowers were white orchirds. Young wore full afternoon dress with a white gardenia. A short musical program rounded out the simple ceremony.

From the church the bridal couple and their friends went to Mrs. Powis' Spanish villa for a wedding supper and a reception. The honeymoon plans were not announced.

Young is chairman of the board of the General Electric Company, an attorney, director of many large industrial and financial corporations and an internationally known figure. His first wife died several years ago.

His bride is the widow of Elwood Stanley Brown, a Y. M. C. A. executive, and of Horace Clark, an industrial engineer. Brown died in 1924 and Clark in 1929. She spent many years in the Orient and in Europe and is considered an accomplished painter, sculptor, musician and needleworker.

President Extends U.S. Housing Power

Washington, Feb. 20.—(AP)—President Roosevelt signed today a bill extending for two years the federal housing administration's power to guarantee private loans for home construction and repair.

Stewart McDonald, federal housing administrator, said the action was tantamount to giving "a green light" to the home construction industry.

Without extension of the guarantee, he said, home construction would have been "seriously retarded, perhaps for years."

McDonald's agency insures home mortgages up to $16,000 and up to 80 per cent of the appraised value of the property. Payments on the mortgage and interest may be spread over a period as long as 20 years.

Frederick M. Babcock, chief of FHA'S underwriting section, said the greatest building activity ever recorded would be necessary to erect sufficient homes to supply the growing demand resulting from better times. Obsolescence of old homes and stoppage of building activities during the depression have made a building boom necessary, he said.

Robert P. Wadlow Nears Nineteenth Birthday,-8 Feet, 5½ Inches Tall

Alton, Ill., Feb. 20—(AP)—In his stocking feet—if he should choose to take off his size 39 shoes—Robert Pershing Wadlow, who will be 19 years old Monday, stands 8 feet 5½ inches tall.

Self-effacing, Alton's youthful giant shies away from discussing the fact he is probably the tallest man of authentic record. He is too reserved to display interest in his birthday.

His father, Harold Wadlow, 5 feet 11 inches tall, said Robert plans no celebration. He may go to a movie, his favorite winter amusement, or he may stay at home and read. He is especially fond of travel books.

The elder Wadlow's yardstick recorded Robert's height as 8 feet 5½ inches. An endocrinologist, who has studied the gigantic youth since he was 11 years old, said the measurement is accurate. The scientist measured Robert last on Oct. 19, 1936 when he was 8 feet 4¾ inches tall.

The approach of maturity has retarded but slightly the amazing pace at which Robert has grown since his birth. He was 6 feet 2 inches tall at nine years of age, 7 feet 8½ inches at 15, and 8 feet 3¾ inches a year ago. His weight is about 450 pounds, a gain of 60 pounds in a year.

This extraordinary development is due to overactivity of a gland at the base of the skull—the pituitary, which controls growth of the body. Normally, it is about the size of a pea. X-ray photographs show Robert's is slightly larger.

Robert's ultimate height is a matter of conjecture. The endocrinologist said, "many subjects of hyperpituitarism have continued to grow after they were 20 years old."

Although they abound in mythology and folklore, giants over seven feet tall are "extremely uncommon" in scientific annals. The famed "Irish giant" was said by one authority to be slightly more than 8 feet 4 inches tall when he died in 1783.

NEUTRAL BILL IS VOTED APPROVAL IN SENATE GROUP

Pittman Bill Designed To Keep Americans Out Of War

Chairman Says it Will be Called in Senate Next Week

Washington, Feb. 20.—(AP)—The senate foreign relations committee voted almost unanimously today for a permanent, mandatory neutrality law designed to keep Americans and American goods out of trouble in case of another foreign war.

With only Senator Johnson (R-Calif.) dissenting, the committee agreed to report to the senate the Pittman bill which would place American trade with future belligerents on virtual "cash and carry" basis.

Chairman Pittman (D-Nev.), author of the bill, said he would call it up in the senate next week, if possible. He forecast quick approval.

Pittman said the bill had administration support. He added, however, that the state department had advised giving the chief executive greater discretion.

Only one of the major provisions of the legislation would be discretionary. On the whole it came from committee so rigidly mandatory that even the old munitions committee bloc was satisfied.

Contending the bill would remove some of the chief causes of American participation in foreign wars, Pittman said:

"We are now cutting that cable by which we were dragged into the last war insofar as we can accomplish it by our individual laws and reasonable restraints upon our own nationals."

But to Senator Johnson, the bill was merely "a shot-gun measure to keep us out of war and it doesn't do anything of the sort."

He added that the bill would "take us into war rather than keep us out" and would "be a source of infinite trouble." Senator Borah (R-Ida), who was not present at today's meeting, held similar views.

Despite the state department's desire for more discretionary legislation, the committee overwhelmingly defeated a substitute offered by Senator Thomas (D-Utah), which Pittman said would give the president "absolute discretion." Among major provisions are:

Permanent extension of the present neutrality law which prohibits exports of arms to belligerents.

A mandatory provision that no other commodities can be shipped to belligerents until American ownership has been transferred to the purchasers.

Discretionary authority for the president to prohibit American ships from carrying goods to belligerents.

Senator Monroe Is New Flood Chairman

Indianapolis, Feb. 20.—(AP)—A flood control conference arranged by the council of state governments voted today to seek President Roosevelt's support for an $85,000,000 dam project designed to check any future rampage of the Ohio river.

Representatives of nine states participating in the conference decided to send a committee of three to Washington to take up with the president and congress plans for a long-range flood control program.

The committee will be composed of State Senator James O. Monroe of Illinois, Virgil M. Simmons, Indiana director of conservation; and R. G. Kinkle, member of the Tennessee House of Representatives.

The conference decided also to establish a Cincinnati office with a permanent staff to gather data on control and such kindred subjects as water supply, drainage, navigation, recreation, soil and wild life conservation, pollution and reforestation.

Senator Monroe was named permanent chairman of a group that will continue the study of control plans.

A session this afternoon brought to a close the two-day conference.

SNOW ENDS WEEK'S SCOURGE OF DUST

Guymon, Okla., Feb. 20.—(AP)—Snow blanketed the high plains of the southwest today, ending the week's scourge of dust storms and buoying the spirits of wheat farmers.

Depth of the snow ranged from two to five inches over the Oklahoma Panhandle, southwestern Kansas, and parts of Colorado and Texas.

Farmers said the snow, which clung to the ground, would prevent immediate recurrence of "dusters" and impetus to a campaign of deep listing to prevent further wind erosion.

"There are thousands of acres of wheat which have suffered only slight damage and which will come back with plenty of moisture," declared Herbert Clutter, Finney county, Kansas, farm agent.

20 Passengers Receive Icy Bath; Narrowly Escape Death, Injury

Twenty passengers on a bus en route to Peoria had harrowing experiences at midnight last night when the vehicle plunged over a thirty foot embankment ten miles north of here and into a water filled creek. All of the occupants are believed to have escaped serious injury, altho several of the passengers had narrow escapes from death.

The passenger list, which included two Jacksonville women, was checked last night and it is not thought any of the passengers will suffer seriously from their unusual experience.

They attributed their rescue from the cold waters of the creek to ten members of the Illinois National guard who were en route to their homes in Peoria from the flood stricken area in southern Illinois, where they have been on duty.

cold waters of the creek to ten members of the Illinois National Guard who were en route to their homes in Peoria from the flood stricken area in southern Illinois, where they have been on duty.

The injured are:

Lawrence Geiger, Peoria, bruises and shock.

Carl Slansky, Chicago, hand and knee injuries.

Frank Moulton, Virginia, slight injuries.

Jess Hartzell, Peoria, knee injury.

Don Long, hand injury.

Mr. Crombacker, injury to leg.

Howard Downey, head injury.

Wheels Hit Mud

Occupants of the machine, including the driver, John Wagner, stated that they were traveling northward when the wheels hit mud that had been washed onto the pavement and the vehicle went out of control crashing thru a guard rail and into the muddy waters of the creek which had been swollen by rains that had fallen for several hours. When the bus stopped it was headed in the direction from which it had come.

Several of the passengers who told of their experience heaped words of praise on the squad of national guardsmen, who acted quickly to drag the occupants of the machine from the water and gasoline which submerged them. They report that windows were smashed in the vehicle and all of the passengers were soon dragged to safety, despite the necessity of pulling the shocked and in some cases injured persons up several feet of slippery, muddy creek banks.

Sergeant W. Richards of Peoria who was in charge of the men who had been on flood duty said the bus plunged down an embankment thirty feet in depth. He said the first thing he did was to smash a window and begin the rescue of passengers. Militiamen who were with him and those who have not been listed in the injured column includes William Galloway, Fred Amrxen, Bob Byrns of the medical department, Edw. Baer, and Jess White. The men had been on duty in Metropolis, Ill. William Mullen of Virginia also was a passenger.

Taken to Hospital

All of the bus passengers were brought to Our Saviour's hospital, where those needing attention were attended by Dr. Frank Norris and Dr. E. D. Canatsey. The bus occupants were brought to the hospital by a bus that was sent out from the local bus station and officers who were called to the scene of the accident, and R. W. Frey of Beardstown. Officers responding to the call included State Patrolman Harvey Dowling, Sheriff Kenneth Woods, Chief of Police Frank Kiloran, Captain Earl Williams and Fire Chief Frank Sullivan.

"It was a terrible experience," said Miss Mitchell, who was enroute with Miss Baptist to Peoria. The bus started slidding and the first thing I knew I was under water mixed with gasoline from the vehicle. We were fortunate however, to have passengers who knew what to do. I was soon assisted from the machine by a member of the national guard."

Miss Mitchell and her companion presented intimate examples of the plunge they had made into the muddy waters. They were smeared with mud and their clothes were wet and soiled by the dirt into which they had been thrown.

Mr. Coolidge, who stated he is a relative of Farm Adviser William Coolidge of this city, is a Spanish American war veteran. He was en route to Pontiac to make an address before a meeting of fellow ex-service men. His thoughts seemed to be not so much about himself as they were concerning his presence in Pontiac. He thought he possibly was not suffering from anything but shock, although a physician had not had time to examine him thoroughly.

The civilian passengers underwent examination first after their arrival at the hospital. The soldiers sat around in a room in their muddy clothes and awaited their turns to see the surgeon. However, none of

COAL OPERATORS, MINERS TO WORK FOR AGREEMENT

Still As Far Apart As When Parley First Began

New York, Feb. 20.—(AP)—Soft coal operators and miners will resume their wage and hour negotiations next week, still as far apart as when they first stated their demands.

No hint of compromise has come from either side. The operators insist the present 35-hour work week should be lengthened to 40 hours with a 15 per cent cut in hourly wage rates. The miners demand a 30-hour week with a 15 per cent raise.

The present agreement expires March 31. Unless a new agreement is reached before April 1 or the present one extended, about 400,000 miners will strike.

Observers agree, however, that the negotiations are proceeding normally. The next agreement will be the fourth since the revival of the United Mine Workers in 1933 and none of the previous contracts were signed more than an hour before the deadline.

The customary procedure is for each side to defend its demands for the first month of the negotiations, and then devote the last two weeks to compromises.

If the negotiating committee stays in continuous session from the time of its next meeting Wednesday to the deadline, another precedent will be broken. After its first few meetings, the committee usually recesses for several weeks.

Next week's committee meeting was attributed by some observers to a statement by Charles O'Neil, operators' spokesman, that the public was entitled to know, as soon as possible, whether there would be a coal strike April 1.

The competitive situation in the fuel market is the chief stumbling block in the way of an agreement. The operators contend fuel oil and natural gas are replacing bituminous coal as a source of industrial energy at such a rate that coal prices must be kept down to meet the competition.

O'Neill estimated the miners' demands would raise the country's coal bill, if all present markets were retained, by at least $270,000,000 a year.

Company President Stages "Sit-Down" Against Strikers

Detroit, Feb. 20.—(AP)—Staging a one-man sit-down strike against sit-down strikers, Walter L. Fry, president, general manager, and chief salesman for the Fry Products company, held his position tonight that "if they won't work I won't, and unless I work and sell, they won't have any work to do."

"They" refers to the 142 women and eight men who went on a sit-down strike, called by the United Automobile workers of America Friday afternoon.

Although no official demands have been presented to President Fry thus far, it is understood the workers want more wages, and shorter hours.

But Fry says:

"We pay the highest wages of any of our competitors. Some of the girls make as high as 68 cents an hour, while most of the workers in this business earn 35 and 40 cents an hour."

DRAMATIC CLUB WILL GIVE PLAY MARCH 23

The MacMurray College Dramatic club is hard at work on rehearsals for a play, "The Rich Young Man," which will be given as one of the features of Dad's day festivities March 23. The play will be presented at 8:15 o'clock that evening in the gymnasium.

Twenty speaking parts are included in the production, which was written by Sara Kingsbury.

The pineapple consists of flowers that originally were separate but which have consolidated into one solid, fleshy mass.

Where the Tall Corn Grows

Illinois, not Iowa, was the state where "the tall corn grew" in 1936. This state, for the first time since 1915, outdid her sister state in the production of corn. Despite the drought, chinch bugs, grass hoppers and the usual crop of weeds, Morgan county helped Illinois win this distinction.

The drought, which was more severe in Iowa than in Illinois, was held responsible for the change in leadership. Iowa's production usually tops Illinois by as much as $160,000,000.

Illinois' victory over Iowa in the matter of growing corn is rather surprising in view of the strenuous educational campaign in the state for rotation of crops, and of general cooperation in the government's soil conservation program. Corn, classed as one of the soil-depleting crops, has been retired from thousands and thousands of acres in Illinois.

But Iowa, too, is a progressive state agriculturally. Her corn acres, also, have been reduced. There was a time when both Iowa and Illinois went in for corn in a big way. As a result, many farmers suffered in fertility because of the sameness of the crop.

We imagine that Illinois' large corn crop last year was more of an accident than an organized movement among the farmers to show the Hawkeyes how much corn we can raise. The average farmer has realized that corn, alone, cannot boost him into prosperity.

Should the showing in this state for 1936 create rivalry in the minds of Iowa farmers, a corn production race next spring and summer might develop into a battle of hybrids.

Both states did considerable experimentation with hybrid corn last summer, testing its yields in the face of drought and insect infestation, against the open pollinated varieties. The scientists have been busy, and many believe they have succeeded in developing seed stock that will resist almost any kind of weather conditions.

So if it comes to an out and out clash between the states as to who can raise the most corn, the scientists will have an important hand in the results.

No matter what might have been the reason, we are rather proud of Illinois' showing in raising more corn than a state that has enjoyed the distinction for years as the place "where the tall corn grows." We, too, can grow tall corn. It's just a matter of how much we want to grow, keeping in mind a proper balance of crop acreage that if abused might prove a liability rather than an asset to agriculture in general.

Midnight Marriages

County Clerk Ray D. Stout of Sangamon county has issued an edict to his deputies that will have a bearing on "midnight marriages" in the future. In fact, there will not be any nuptial ceremonies in the wee hours of the morning, unless the couples take precaution to get their licenses before the close of regular office hours.

"No more marriage licenses issued outside the office or at all hours of the night," the Sangamon clerk said.

We believe his is a good idea. It is worth adopting in other counties.

The Sangamon clerk pointed out that most requests for licenses at midnight mean "gin marriages," and the best interest of the county will be served by abolishing that kind.

Why should marriage licenses be issued at midnight any more than wills or real estate transfers be recorded? County offices have fixed hours for transaction of official business. Marriage licenses are a part of official business, and a uniform rule should apply.

Most marriage license bureaus are open for a span of 8 to 10 hours each day. Let the prospective grooms take out their permits during that time, or wait until the following day.

Society does not approve of "midnight" or "gin" marriages. County officials by adopting a fixed rule have it largely within their own power to prevent such ceremonies.

How's Your House Number?

Indistinct house numbering and failure on the part of some persons to display any house number at all, continues in Jacksonville despite a post office department edict that city carriers do not have to deliver mail to unmarked or incorrect addresses.

Jacksonville is not the only city that has a house problem to deal with. A dispatch from Troy, N. Y., made a valuable suggestion.

A group of physicians there is petitioning that all house numbers be at least four inches high and so placed that they can be seen from the street. Delay in making calls, caused by the difficulty in locating house numbers, often endangers the lives of patients, the doctors say. They get behind in their calls and soon some patient suffers from lack of early attention.

What goes for physicians goes for fire departments and police in responding to emergency calls.

Jacksonville house numbers are probably in good shape compared to the New York town. But there is room for improvement. Every householder as a mark of civic responsibility, should see that his home is properly numbered.

Almost all of us, aside from emergencies, have been annoyed by faulty house numbering. In searching for an address at night it is sometimes necessary to walk or drive a considerable distance out of your way, and then prowl about lawns, worrying all the time lest house occupants will think you are a house-breaker.

At Last They're Signed

Readers of the sports pages heaved a sigh of relief this week when they saw announcement that James J. Braddock, heavyweight fistic champion, and Brown Bomber Joe Louis have been signed for a bout in Chicago June 22.

With Louis tearing up the comeback trail, following his defeat at the hands of Max Schmeling, and Champion Braddock enjoying comparative idleness, months have been spent in trying to get these gladiators together. As usual, sport itself was pushed into the background as the boys who manage the show talked dollars.

But the papers have now been signed. They are really going to fight. From now on it will be ballyhoo, instead of a lot of financial talk.

Fans can now argue the question of who's going to win, instead of whether they're going to fight.

The Rainey Collection

The late Henry T. Rainey of Carrollton, who at his death occupied the position of Speaker of the House of Representatives, owned a valuable collection of rare books and art, gathered during his long career in public life.

These treasures could have been stored away in a museum, and no doubt would have been objects of interest for many years to come. But the Speaker's widow, Mrs. Ella M. Rainey, determined that they should be put to more practical use.

She turned the collection over to a Chicago agency to be auctioned, stating that the revenue will be devoted to boy and girl scout promotional work in which she has long been active.

Mrs. Rainey is continuing the philanthropies of her husband, who supported many worthy causes with liberality. Her decision to dispose of the collection and convert its value into active philanthropy no doubt will meet with public approval.

The sale of the Rainey collection was begun in Chicago this week, the demand for the treasures of literature and art indicating that Mr. Rainey had deep knowledge of their artistic and historical values. In the collection are more than 500 pieces of Americana, and a number of first editions of well known books. It is estimated that the collection will realize from $20,000 to $25,000.

One item listed for sale was the quill pen with which President Woodrow Wilson signed the world war bill. Another was a small plaster bust of Lincoln by Gutzon Borglum, inscribed to Mr. Rainey by the sculptor.

Agents described as the rarest collector's item a copy of the Nuremburg Chronicle, "Das Buch der Chroniken and Geshichton" by Hartmann Schedel, printed with movable type in 1493.

The late Speaker Rainey and Mrs. Rainey were energetic collectors of manuscripts and many, such as letters of Whittier, Webster and Thomas Jefferson and documents bearing Lincoln's signature, were owned by them.

Press Time Blues

Scores of young men and women in the high schools and colleges are going around these days with business-like steps, and worried looks.

It's not their studies that weights them down with responsibility—it's the school annual.

We know how to sympathize with these youngsters who are new in the journalistic field. Press time always brings that feeling of susense. Does this read right, does this look right? Have we overlooked something important? How much time have we to write?

These questions arise where any publication is in the making. The staffs of the school annuals are "bearing down." They have only a month or two left to get in their final licks.

The editor-in-chiefs are busy with general plans for the publications. He or she, no doubt has issued orders to the art editor, society editor, alumni editor, sports editor, snapshot editor and all the other editors, to step on it. Spring's coming, and that is when the school annuals are due to blossom forth.

Jacksonville High puts out the Crimson J; Routt High issues The Wag; Illinois College gets out The Rig and MacMurray College girls author the Illiwoco. The state schools also have publications which keep the students busy writing and revising.

It's a big job for these young men and women who compose the staff memberships. But its worth it. We've never seen or heard of a school annual that wasn't a success.

They carry loads of interest for the schools they represent. They capture and hold the school spirit. School annuals have a habit of aging and mellowing, their value to the owner increasing as the years pass.

Our advice to the staffs of school annuals is to keep a stiff upper lip. It may look like all the cuts and copy will never come in.

But you'll get out that school paper! And it will be a dandy, one of which you'll be proud!

A Word About Trees

When spring arrives there are several important matters which should concern the community and home owners. One is the urgency of cleaning premises of accumulated rubbish which has littered our lawns during the winter months. Another, more important still, is the planting of shade trees to take the places of those which have outlived their usefulness, or which have been demolished by sleet storms.

Beautiful trees and their friendly shade are the crowning glory of any city. Jacksonville is fortunate in this respect, and should not permit interest in the planting or care of trees to lag.

Such a program to be successful must have the assistance of the various civic organizations and the active cooperation of every resident. But all these requisites are worth while. Most persons can find time to care for and develop a few trees on their properties.

Too Many Bureaus

Soon after President Roosevelt submitted a plan for reorganization of the executive branch of the government, Senator Byrd of Virginia offered a substitute which he said would provide for real economy. Senator Byrd in support of his plan, pointed out some astounding instances of duplication and overlapping of work among the government agencies.

For example, at least 24 agencies have been created to deal with the lending of public funds, and five similar agencies are in the process of liquidation. There are three agencies concerned with insuring deposits and loans. Ten agencies have to do with government construction, and nine are concerned with credit and finance.

There are an even dozen bureaus which work on projects related to home and community planning. Sixteen are hooked up with wild life in some of its aspects.

So it goes down the line through a long list. If it is estimated that everyone of these agencies have a useful and legitimate purpose, it is hard to find an excuse for 20 bureaus being set up to do one bureau's job. Neither is there any excuse for the unlimited growth of a bureau when it is once started, eating up tax money in an ever increasing quantity. One bureau mentioned by Senator Byrd may be addressed at any one of 13 different places in Washington.

These facts furnish ammunition for arguments by those who want to see some real economy effected, if and when reorganization takes place.

Volunteers Wanted

W. N. Luttrell in the Franklin Times this week calls attention to the village election Tuesday, April 20, by asking "Who wants a job?"

Mr. Luttrell also takes occasion to comment on the unstability of some of the election laws. He says:

"The legislature has been monkeying with our election laws again, and as now amended the law provides that our village president chosen this spring shall serve a four year term. Six trustees are to be elected, and after the election they will cast lots to determine which three will serve for two years, and which three for four years.

"Whether the clerk to be chosen serves two years or four years is a point on which we are not informed. Studying the election law to find what you want is a good deal like looking for a needle in a haystack."

CAR DAMAGED

A car belonging to Eloise Thurmon and driven by Gerald Keeley, student at Illinois College, was damaged about midnight Friday when it crashed into the steel pole owned by the Illinois Power and Light company at the junction of the square and West State street. No one was injured.

The Family Doctor

Sanitation, Quarantine Are Vital in Checking Scarlet Fever Spread

BY DR. MORRIS FISHBEIN
Editor, Journal of the American Medical Association, and of Hygeia, the Health Magazine

Little is gained by treating the throat with antiseptics during an attack of scarlet fever. The initial soreness and swelling soon disappear. If, however, the throat feels more comfortable following gargling with some mild antiseptic solution, this may be done.

The physician who attends the patient—and there should always be a physician in constant attendance—will determine the nature of the substances that are to be used.

If possible, only people who already have had the disease should be in contact with the patient and help the doctor with these procedures.

The doctor will watch the patient's temperature carefully and determine from its changes whether secondary infections will occur. He will examine the ears for the first signs of spread of infection from the throat.

He also will examine regularly the excretions from the kidneys, to determine whether there is any danger that these vital organs will be inflamed. He will help prevent this complication by making sure that the patient remains quiet and that the diet does not throw an undue burden on the kidneys.

Remedies may be prescribed that will prevent headache and other pains, and various lotions may be recommended to soothe itching and irritated skin.

It also is necessary for the doctor to advise the family as to the cleaning of linens, utensils, and other materials used by the patient in order to prevent the spread of the disease.

The bed and body linen and other materials that may have been contaminated by discharges from the patient, and all objects such as thermometers, spoons, cups, and toys that likewise may have become infected, should be boiled or steamed, or soaked in some suitable germicidal solution.

After the patient has recovered, the permanent furniture should be thoroughly washed and cleaned, and the room aired and sunned for at least one day.

Health authorities insist that children with scarlet fever shall be quarantined until all discharges, including those from the ears, have ceased. Disastrous outbreaks of this disease have resulted from permitting patients with such discharges to go back to school and some in contact with children who are susceptible to scarlet fever.

It is possible, by examining the discharge, to find out whether scarlet fever streptococci are present. Such examinations should be made when the discharges have lasted for a long time, and should determine whether the dangerous germs are still present.

The application of the measures that have been mentioned will do much to control this serious infectious disease, to lessen its virulence, and perhaps ultimately to eliminate it altogether.

THE WORLD IN A WEEK

A REVIEW

FOR THOSE WHO ARE disaster-minded, this week's news must have been particularly pleasing. Scarcely a bright note pervaded the gloom of strikes, violence attending them, accidents and threat of war.

Through a seven day period, there were forty-four stories of prime importance. Many of these, of course, were duplications in that they were daily developments of the same general news item. Thirty of these happenings came under the direct classification of "disaster," and, almost without exception, the rest offered nothing of peace, hope, or happiness among the peoples of the world.

Of the forty-four biggest news stories, only one reflected anything like a refreshing note. It was the decision of the Italian government to grant mercy to convicts of the state because of the birth of a baby boy and heir, grandson of the king. Even those who had threatened the life of Mussolini were granted amnesty.

FOR JUST ONE DAY in this more or less troubled hemisphere, the chroniclers of events might be allowed a bit of imagination to compose a different story. If it were possible, this news review might then be able to change a few paragraphs.

To borrow the theme of a famous dramatist, why not let the captions run, "DISASTER TAKES A HOLIDAY?" Just for twenty-four hours why not let the forces for good push themselves into the fore of world events. Why not a front page interview with a tired but contented Red Cross worker in the flood area, a big picture of her bringing comfort to a family on her routine work? Why not feature the ordinary work of Jewish, Catholic, and Protestant churches? Why not try to push sordid disaster from the headlines,—just for a day?

GENERAL MOTORS swung into negotiations with the auto workers this week, formally ending their strike, as a smaller but more violent "sit-down" broke out in the Metallurgical plant at Waukegan. Nearly one hundred men barricaded themselves in, defying with force attempts of the sheriff and a deputized "army" to evict them in spite of shutting off water and heat. A number were injured in rioting. C.I.O. officials urged the weary men to "stick it out."

John Lewis, "resting" after his battle with the auto company, turned his attention to the miners' contract, soon to expire, and presented demands which company representatives said were "utterly impossible." Among them were assurance of a $1,200 yearly income, improved working conditions and a thirty hour week.

Mine officials said only price fixing under a new Guffey Bill, once declared unconstitutional by the Supreme Court, could make even a compromise possible.

WITH GRIM REALITY of wartime, an exploding gun on the battleship Wyoming killed six and injured ten, one of the latter group dying of injuries Friday. The accident occurred in maneuvering and secret "war practice" in the Pacific. In a closed inquest, naval officials announced that no one was to blame for the tragedy. The Wyoming was demilitarized under the world pact in 1930 and was being used for instruction purposes.

TWELVE WORKMEN, perched 200 foot above the swirling waters of San Francisco's Golden Gate, fell with broken scaffolding that pierced the $81,000 safety net, and were killed, with exception of one man who saved himself and held onto the body of a dead comrade.

The great bridge, constructed with the longest suspension span in the world, had been planned with the element of safety especially in mind. The huge rope net had already prevented a number of deaths, but the weight of the broken scaffold was too great a strain.

OVER THE HEADS OF the Nine Old Men waged a furious battle this week,—the aftermath of President Roosevelt's announcement on revision of the Supreme Court. Perhaps creating more widespread interest than any single event since the presidential election, straw votes sprang up over night, state legislatures hastened to pass measures supporting or condemning, and the bar associations of the country issued sheafs of resolutions that, almost without exception, attacked the move to "pack" the high tribunal.

Senators speak nightly on the radio, pro and con, and those who remain silent try courageously but vainly to clear their desks of telegram "floods" from every state in the union.

As stated many times, and reaffirmed this week in private conferences by the president himself, only a change or addition to the personnel of the Supreme Court can make possible the assured life of New Deal legislation. The president also made it clear that he considers his record vote a mandate to accomplish that program, and he intends to do it at any odds.

Those opposing him who supported his reelection candidacy say that they expected a conservative second term, and at least, nothing to upset the very traditions of American democracy in exerting a virtual one man rule over courts and congress.

The record of the news simmers the thing down to this conclusion. Mr. Roosevelt has evolved one of the most far-reaching, progressive social programs ever conceived by a government in the world's history. Its appeal is so humanitarian, so ideal, that a majority of voters gave their stamp of approval to the efforts thus far undertaken.

But a number of wise legislators, and certainly many other persons, have come to the sad realization that there is "no more money," at least in a manner of speaking,—and that the incurred debt obligations of the United States must not mount higher.

The program of the president is progressive, but so much so that its details must be realized over a greater period of time than the president will admit. From the "horse-and-buggy" days, opponents of the court plan believe we have been projected almost to an era several decades hence, and without the finances and machinery to accomplish the reform.

It is possible that furious legislative battles in Congress may reach an impasse requiring a vote of the people as a final judgment.

BEHIND THE SCENES IN WASHINGTON

Opponents of Roosevelt Court Plan Cry "Dictator" and President's Followers Answer Back That Supreme Court Is Judicial Dictatorship Already and May Wreck Economic System.

By RODNEY DUTCHER
Journal-Courier Washington Correspondent

Washington—Probably there is no more important issue raised in the tempest over Roosevelt's supreme court proposal than the question whether the measure is best calculated to promote Fascism or preserve democracy.

The warning cry of "dictatorship" is being taken up again by those who used it against the president in the campaign, and also by others who begin to worry about expansion of presidential power for the first time. This includes some who favor a curb on the court, but who fear establishment of a precedent which might help some would-be Hitler of the future.

Roosevelt's supporters argue back that an increase of power for the president and Congress is preferable to the supreme court's "judicial dictatorship" which now exercises arbitrary power to kill laws proposed, passed and signed by the people's elected representatives. They say a workable economic system is the best guarantee against Fascism.

Favor Court as "Check"

The "dictatorship" argument goes like this:

The president now controls Congress through patronage, propaganda and threat of political reprisals. If he were to be given control of the supreme court he would become all-powerful. Abolition of the judiciary's independence would mean autocracy, a threat to civil and religious liberty and possible suppression of political minorities.

The supreme court is the only agency which can keep the president and Congress from exceeding the powers granted them by the Constitution. If the president is allowed to appoint up to six members of it, he and the Congress (which his enemies insist is his mouthpiece) will have a free hand.

The six hand-picked appointees, enemies of the plan insist, would be subservient to the will of the president who appointed them, and could not be expected to exercise their independent judgments in interpreting the Constitution.

These arguments are made by some of the most whole-hearted anti-Fascists in the country and they are also espoused by many American public men who have been known to extoll the achievements of Hitler and Mussolini. The charge that Roosevelt, through pressure, has made Congress a rubber stamp, has been made against other presidents. It appears to imply the American system of government has already partially broken down through destruction of the independence of the legislative branch. Defeat of the Roosevelt plan, members are being told by its opponents, would restore the independence of Congress.

They Cite Precedents

The other side argues more or less as follows:

The supreme court's conservative majority, which includes two former Republican national committeemen, a former Republican candidate for president and a former Republican candidate for president and a former lame duck Republican senator, appointed by Harding, has made a political body or super-legislature of the court. It has knocked down New Deal laws because it opposes them, and not merely through objective legalistic interpretations of the Constitution.

There are several precedents for "monkeying" with the court to bring it into line with prevailing political or economic philosophy, and even if there were no such precedent, any dictator could establish one just as easily if Roosevelt's scheme were adopted now.

People will not tolerate a dictator unless they become disillusioned with democracy and such a disillusionment can only arise from serious economic conditions.

If the court gets to be popularly blamed for preventing solution of the nation's economic problems, it will not have enough prestige to be able to stand up against the encroachments of a dictator and protect civil rights in any case. Economic justice and stability are democracy's best guarantees.

Dictatorships destroy parliamentary government. Roosevelt's proposal would produce a court which would be more responsive to desires of the people as expressed through Congress. This would strengthen, rather than weaken, parliamentary government, thus bulwarking democracy.

New arguments from both sides will be presented as fast as the two sides think them up.

ALSEY HIGH SCHOOL STARTS WORK ON PLAY TO BE GIVEN IN MARCH

Alsey, Feb. 20.—The students of the Alsey High school have started work on a play to be presented sometime in March. The play, "Hobgoblin House," is a mystery play with the setting in the Ozark Hill country. The play is well adapted to high school portrayal and is under the direction of Mrs. Mary Price, English teacher. CONSIDER

THE ACCOMPLISHMENTS OF MAYOR BLACKBURN'S ADMINISTRATION

Blackburn's reelection means continued progress for Jacksonville!

During his administration more than 90% of the city's dirt streets have been graded and oiled at a minimum cost to adjoining property owners.

Under present plans all oiling costs to these owners will be eliminated in 1937 if Blackburn is reelected.

The tax rate under Mayor Blackburn's administration has been decreased not increased.

The antiquated light department and water plant have been kept working efficiently.

Mayor Blackburn has worked untiringly for a municipal light plant and new water system, and if reelected will continue to work for these important projects.

All departments in the city have operated within their budgets.

Mayor Blackburn's nomination and reelection means an honest, efficient and businesslike administration for the next four years.

EMPTY BOTTLES MAY BE CLUE TO ROBBERY OF COUNTY TAVERN

Empty hard liquor bottles strewn along Route 104 from the first turn west of the city to the eastern edge of the high school athletic field may be a clue to the robbery of the Yeakel Brothers tavern at Meredosia, Sheriff Kenneth Woods decided yesterday, after picking up about 30 empties, and counting 120 more bottles found along the highway.

The tavern, which was robbed earlier last week, has prepared a list of the brands stolen in the raid.

Indications were that the persons who threw the bottles out of the machine were driven at a slow rate of speed and pouring the contents into a container in the machine, before discarding the empties.

Reduces Dividends on Its Preferred Shares in Reclassification

A reclassification of capital stock of the Illinois Steel Bridge Co., was announced Saturday from the office of Secretary of State Edward J. Hughes, with which the application was filed by the company.

Officials of the firm explained that the company is making its common stock of no par value, and is reducing dividends on preferred stock from seven to five per cent.

What Are Vitamins

A Short Course

Continued.

Doctors have always searched for a "super-food" to supplement the average diet. For hundreds of years they have successfully used Cod Liver Oil for this purpose without knowing the scientific reason for their value.

They did not know for example that an ordinary dose of cod liver oil has more of two of the important vitamins than all the butter, eggs and milk a person could consume in a day.

Unfortunately, all Cod Liver Oils are not of the same strength. So the United States Pharmacopoea, (called the U. S. P. and known as the druggists bible) has set standards of strength or potency, and expressed in units of vitamin content.

Rapid changes are going on in the marketing of vitamin products. Just any old vitamin product won't do any more. Buyers are learning what to ask for and their physicians are stressing the importance of selling only products made by reputable firms.

White Hall Defeats Routt In Last Game of Season for Local Team With Display Of Power

White Hall high school rang down the curtain on Routt high's 1936-37 basketball season Saturday night on the Liberty hall court, their players caring through the Rockets during the first half of a lead on which they rested during the second half to win 35 to 21.

Routt high was playing some of its best basketball, but it didn't mean a thing as White Hall's big players, with Fair and Wendell leading the parade, rebounded the ball until it went in the mesh. Fair pitched in 17 points, and Wendell 13 for their night's work.

The Maroons poured the leather thru the basket in the first half to rush out to a 23 to 7 lead. They let up a bit in the third quarter, but still held a 32 to 14 lead at the end of the third period.

Regular White Hall players stayed in until just a couple minutes before the curtain went down, but the Rockets found themselves too late in the game.

District Tournaments Draw Prepsters to Games This Week

District tournaments, the first round of elimination for high school basketball teams, will get underway this week on Wednesday night. Nearby tournaments will be held in Greenfield, Winchester and Jerseyville. Local interest will center in the Winchester district, where the champion and runner up will come to the Illinois School for the Deaf for the regional tournament beginning a week from Wednesday.

Ten teams have been assigned to Winchester, nine teams will compete at Jerseyville and Greenfield has drawn nine entries.

Franklin and Winchester loom as the favorites at Winchester, with Illinois School for the Deaf still an uncertain entry. The Tigers may be forced to forego entering the tournament, unless an order comes through from the state Public Welfare Department permitting the Tigers to play for the first time since January 1.

The blanket quarantine order covering all state institutions will not prevent having the regional tournament on the I. S. D. court, but will prevent the students of the school from attending the games.

Three games will open the program at Winchester Wednesday night. I. S. D. is scheduled to meet Chapin, Scottville and Winchester are to meet in the second game, and Waverly and Modesto will clash in the nightcap. Winners of the first two games meet in the opening game on the Thursday night card, and Virginia and Franklin meet in the second game, and Bluffs and Pleasant Plains clash in the final.

Semi-finals will be played Friday night, and the championship game is slated for Saturday night. There is no third place game scheduled in view of the fact that only two teams will qualify for regional play. Jacksonville, Springfield, Ashland, Chandlerville, Murrayville and New Berlin were rated above the district competition and will begin play in the regional tournament.

At Greenfield, Kampsville and Kane will open the tournament, with Greenfield and Eldred furnishing the competition for the second game and Rockbridge and Alsey bringing the first session to a close. Medora meets Patterson and Hillview takes on the winner of the first game in Thursday night's session. Semi-finals will be Friday night and the championship game will be played Saturday night.

Jerseyville's tournament opens with Brighton and Troy meeting in the first round, Alhambra and Shipman in the second game, and Worden and Grafton in the third game. Thursday night Bethalto plays Jerseyville, St. Jacob and Chesterfield mix in the second game, and the winners of the first two games will come back for the final game on the Thursday card. Winners of games 3 and 5 are matched in one semi-final, and of games 4 and 6 in the other semi-final. The championship game will be played Saturday night.

Illinois Defeats Indiana U. 45-25

Illini Go Into Tie for Conference Lead

Bloomington, Ind., Feb. 20.—(AP)—Illinois shot into a tie for the Big Ten conference leadership by defeating Indiana 42 to 25, in an amazing exhibition of one-handed shots here tonight.

Illinois took a quick lead and was behind for only a brief period midway in the first half when three consecutive baskets by Bill Johnson, sophomore forward, put the Hoosiers ahead 13 to 7, but a series of one-handed flip shots started the visitors on the road to victory.

The win was Illinois' seventh in nine games and the defeat Indiana's fifth in ten games.

The score was knotted twice in the first period at 13-13 and 17-17. Baskets by Wib Henry and Harry Combes gave the Illini a 23 to 17 advantage at the intermission. With every player in the starting combination scoring, Illinois sped into a ten-point lead with as many minutes to go and Coach Doug Mills sent in his substitutes.

Johnson led Indiana with 14 points. Bob Reigel and Combes paced the visitors with 11 and 10 points, respectively.

Minnesota Loses To Purdue Cagers

Gophers Nosed Out in Free-for-All 34-33

Lafayette, Ind., Feb. 20.—(AP)—With the final gun halting a sensational Minnesota rally, Purdue threw the Big Ten conference race into a free-for-all here tonight by nosing out the Gophers before 5,500 howling fans, 34 to 33.

It was the brilliant play of Johnny Sines and Pat Malaska which stood out as the Boilermakers chalked up their 7th victory against two defeats.

Purdue shot to the front, 14 to 6, early in the game and was enjoying a comfortable lead of 24 to 14 at the half. The Boilermakers were still on top, 32 to 21, with 10 minutes of play left.

Then the Gophers drive started as Glen Downey and Dick Seebach left the floor on personal fouls.

Kundle scored from the field with ten seconds to go, bringing the count to 34 to 33, but the gun fired before the next tip-off.

Manley and Rolex were the high scorers for the losers.

NOTRE DAME WINS

South Bend, Ind., Feb. 20.—(AP)—Notre Dame squared all accounts in the defeat column for the current season by defeating Pittsburgh, 29 to 18, before 5,500 fans here tonight. Pitt was the only team to hold an edge on the Irish this season. Illinois and Northwestern lost to Notre Dame in return contests.

The Panthers never were out in front after the first two minutes of play but always threatened. Failure to capitalize on easy set shots cost both teams many points.

The win was the eighth straight scored by Notre Dame and the Irish's 15th in 18 games this season.

Browns, C.C.C. Lead In Y.M. Cage Loop

Three Browns Players Top Scorers; CCC Tosser Heads B. League

The end of the second week in the Y. M. C. A. Basketball League finds Brown's Business College perched on top of the heap with four consecutive wins in the "A" Division. Mac's Clothes Shop are right on their heels with only one loss, that being to the league leaders. The C. C. C. Boys have come out victorious in two attempts and lead the "B" Division. These teams play only one game a week, whereas the "A" teams tangle twice each week.

Bob Perkins of B. B. C. nosed out his teammate, Dwight Hidden for high scoring honors in the league. Perkins has notched 15 field goals to lead in that department also. Jimmy Abernathy of Mac's basketeers made good 11 chances from the gift line to lead the free-throw makers.

Turner, C. C. C. forward, leads in all departments in the "B" Division with 7 field goals and three charity tosses for a total of seventeen points. He is closely crowded by Killam, Crimson player, who has rung up 15 points.

The teams in both league are closely matched and the games bring forth many thrills and tense moments for the crowds. "A" games are played each Monday and Wednesday nights at the David Prince Court and the "B" games take place on Tuesday or Thursday nights each week at the same gym. There is no admission charge for these games.

Players, Coaches And Fans Go Wild As Titans Knock Last Of Championship Hopes Out of I.C.

Everybody, players, fans and coaches went wild Saturday night on the Illinois School for the Deaf boards when Illinois Wesleyan's Titans took a 54 to 51 decision from Illinois college in an overtime game that left plenty of argument for the fans, players and coaches.

Wesleyan, playing a vicious game, and Illinois college, playing almost as wildly, put on a game in which there was no defense, and in which officials whacked down on the collegians for 53 fouls.

Wallace's basket and three free throws after Dembo connected with a gift shot, gave the Titans a 54 to 48 lead over the Blueboys in the first few minutes of the crazy finish. One of the free throws awarded to Wallace was a technical foul charged against the Blueboy coach when he rushed out to protest the fourth personal foul called on Scheffler, the fifth Blueboy to foul out of the game, and Wallace plunked it in, along with two shots awarded him for the foul.

Illinois attempted a game comeback, but they could find nothing as spectacular as their wind-up in the regular playing time when with only 20 seconds to go, Cecil Fletcher was awarded two free throws. The Blueboys needed three points to tie the game. Fletcher dropped in the first shot, and then the ball came off the bankboard on Scheffler's side of the hoop, and the Blueboy ace bounced the leather back through to tie the count.

It all went for naught when the Titans slashed away in the overtime. They too, lost five men on personal fouls, but they still had the ace scorer of the evening, John Wallace, out there. He plopped in one field basket and three free throws, and then, in the dying moments, the Blueboys gamely trying to overcome a six point handicap in one minute, got three free throws and made them good. The Fletcher brothers, Cecil and Virgil contributed those points as Wesleyan set a defense which plainly shouted, "They shall not pass."

There wasn't even standing room left when the two teams went after each other. People stood five and six deep around the ends of the court and jammed out onto the floor. Others were jammed tightly into the bleacher seats—almost so tightly that when they wanted to yell, they had to stand up in order to give their lungs room to expand. They kept filing in while the Blueboy freshmen were trimming the Wesleyan freshmen 40 to 31.

Defense was almost one of the lost arts. The Blueboys drew the first blood in 45 seconds when Scheffler dumped in the first shot, but for the first 20 minutes there was little to choose between the two teams. At the end of five minutes the score stood at 9 to 7, and at the end of ten minutes it was tied up at 10 all. Lasiter went out for a little rest at the end of 12 minutes, and the score was tied at 14 all then. Ruff went out for a little rest at the end of 15 minutes and the score stood 18 to 17 with the Blueboys in front. They finally wound up the half with the count 24 to 23, Wesleyan.

Wesleyan's well devised attack to offset the Blueboy height began to work in the second half when it seemed for awhile that Illinois wasn't even going to be in the ball game. The Titans began pulling away from the Blueboys, executing all of their fanciest tricks to shake the Blueboy guards. They led 28 to 24, and at the end of five minutes of play had a 34 to 27 lead. Three minutes later they had their biggest margin, a 42 to 29 lead.

Illinois went back to work, and with Virgil Fletcher, Fred May, and Lasiter hitting the hoop, they slashed the margin to 35 to 42. Illinois hopes rose again, but Wesleyan, with Bedell sinking a free shot and Ruff a field goal, went back to a ten point margin, 45-35. Lasiter acquired his fourth foul and left the game with seven minutes to play, and the Blueboy hopes sank again. Virgil Fletcher's two free tosses and Scott's basket brought the Blueboys back to trailing six points, with six minutes to go. With two minutes to play the margin still stood at six points, 48-42. Scheffler connected for a gift shot. Cecil Fletcher hit a bucket, and with 20 seconds to go got those two free throws which resulted in the tie score.

Neither team cracked materially under pressure of the battle, but the fans were alternately ready to hang players, officials, coaches and anybody just to let off steam.

— FAN BREEZES —

By Ernest Savage

TOURNAMENTS take the headlines this week. . . . Winchester, Greenfield, Jerseyville, Barry, Browning, and Girard are the closest centers. . . . Winchester's district holds many possibilities. . . . Don't overlook Franklin, or the host team, in doping a possible winner there. . . .

—o—

TRAILS end might be the title of the week for some of the basketball teams. . . . Routt high's basketball team will go to Peoria Friday for the Catholic school tournament. . . . St. Pat's, of Kankakee, their first round opponent, beat Kankakee, 31-30, and Kankakee holds two decisions over Danville this year. . . . Danville beat Springfield, so it seems that the die is cast for the Rockets. . . .

—o—

PIKE COUNTY'S basketball race is all sewed up now, it seems. . . . Pittsfield has the championship banner, but the Saukees had to go through two overtime periods against Griggsville to be sure of it. . . . Milton had to rally in the fourth period to beat Nebo by three points after holding Nebo off with a zone defense all night. . . . Milton is one of the very few teams in Pike county using a zone defense. . . . New Canton took third place by nosing out Pearl 44-42 according to reports issued by the scorers, but a check of the scorebook after the game showed both teams had 44 points. . . . Nebo went down to fourth place. . . . Rockport, one of the doormats of the county in former years, is in fifth place. . . . Cullen Sweet's Barry team is on the rebound and is expected to provide plenty of fireworks in its own regional tournament. . .

—o—

JACKSONVILLE high could claim the Morgan county championship without much fear of contradiction after thumping Murrayville, Little Six conference winner, the other night. . . White Hall already has sewed up the Greene county title. . . . Beardstown might be called the Cass county champions. . . . but be careful what town you're in when you do it. . . . Scott county's title ought to rest in Bluffs as a result of the two Bluffs victories over Winchester. . . .

—o—

HUNK Anderson, who developed Knute Rockne's famous lines, will be doing the trick for Michigan next year. . . . if some one brings in the material. . . . Harry Kipke signed him up Saturday for the job. . . .

Griggsville Downs Perry by 38 to26

Perry—Griggsville high defeated Perry, traditional rival here Saturday night, 38 to 26. The Griggsville team continued the excellent form it displayed at Pittsfield against another old rival Friday night.

A third quarter scoring spree, during which the Griggsville team pulled the Perry defense away from the hoop to shoot forwards under the wicket for short shots, broke up a tight scoring battle.

LOCAL HEN LAYS 3 OR 4 EGGS IN ONE

Produces Whole Feast in One Shell

Experts are not quite certain whether a hen in the chicken house of Mr and Mrs. Ernest Correll of this city is going in for freaks or is just making ham and eggs more simple to prepare.

Ernest Correll got the shock of his life Tuesday morning when he shoved his hand into this young biddie's nest and felt a monstrosity. He couldn't get his hand out of the nest quickly enough, he declared.

More cautiously he moved his hand into the nest again, and this time brought out what he didn't believe was an egg, although it had all of the characteristics of one. Gradually he became convinced that this chicken had produced something unusual.

Anyway, Correll measured the egg and found that it was nine inches around the long axis, and 7½ inches around the short axis. The hen, just a young one, was still alive and apparently suffered no ill effects, he said.

Yesterday he took the egg to the Swift and Company plant here for examination. Five or six men in the egg department looked on with awe and perhaps a few "ah's" and "oh's". It was the biggest egg they had ever seen.

A dozen eggs, they explained, weighed between 20 and 22 ounces. They placed this one egg on a scale, and found that it weighed five ounces. Here was a quarter of a dozen eggs in one shell.

Correll didn't recall leaving and reading matter about the chicken house carrying news of multiple births. When the egg was placed in front of the candling machine, it showed one yolk at each end, and when turned one way, showed two yolks in the center. When it was turned another way there was only one yolk in the center.

Thus far, the Corrells haven't become curious enough to open the egg and find out whether it is triplets or quadruplets.

Red Cross Relief Fund in Morgan County Is $5,225

Flood Details Are Given in Letter Received by Chapter Chairman

Contributions to the Red Cross flood relief fund now total $5,225.24, it was reported at the Morgan county chapter office yesterday. Three contributions are listed in the last report, Walnut Grove and Duncan Spring schools, $2.20; Miss Allie Marsh, $2, and Mrs. Katie E. Brown, $2.

Some intimate details of flood conditions are given in a letter received here by Henry J. Rodgers, chapter chairman from James L. Fieser, vice-chairman in charge of domestic operations.

The letter is given in part as follows:

"As a member of the President's Flood Relief Commission, of which Harry L. Hopkins was chairman, I had exceptional opportunity to supplement my knowledge concerning the needs and extent of the problems by personal observation. Strategic points were visited in seven states: Tennessee, Arkansas, Missouri, Kentucky, Illinois, Indiana and Ohio. Such highly urbanized communities as Evansville, Louisville and Cincinnati, each an outstanding victim of tthe flood in its own right, were included.

"There was also the visit to Paducah, a city of 40,000 people whose streets were like those of Venice, navigable for miles with the assistance of Coast Guard cutters and other craft. The population was reduced to 500, the others having been evacuated to nearby cities or cared for on the hills back of the city. Because so few people could anticipate the ultimate height of the flood in the city strets, many families were moved back three or four times before they reached the ultimate high level.

"Hickman, Kentucky, a small city of 2,500 on the banks of the Mississippi, presented another type of situation. The heroic fight of army engineers to save the levees and river wall was under way with 2,000 WPA and CCC men working day and night. In addition, 3,000 refugees had been superimposed upon the small community. The quick adjustment to house and feed, under emergency conditions, 5,000 people, in addition to the normal population of 2,500, can readily be imagined.

Thousands Work.

"It is impossible to do justice to the heroism of refugees and of those attempting to relieve the situation. Even in the most stricken areas, chapter leaders and all persons working with them, were unanimously courageous and often even preserved their sense of humor. Tens of thousands of women helped for long hours, in refugee centers, cooking, distributing clothing and otherwise helping, as good neighbors, these shivering victims, poor and rich, white and black, who were suddenly brought to them for help. Despite the absence of sleep or food or drink many of the men who lead in Red Cross and other community activities were unshaven and, for days, unwashed because there was no time nor facility for their observance. As late as last week, some cities were rationing each person with one quart of water, which was the quota for drinking and all other purposes. Even larger cities like Evansville and Louisville were still without heat in hotel rooms. One ate his meals with his overcoat on.

"But out of the confusion grew order. The Red Cross, Junior Red Cross, the WPA, the CCC, the Boy Scouts, the American Legion, Veterans of Foreign Wars, church groups, labor organizations, benevolent societies, fraternal orders and all kinds of people in organized and unorganized groups, helped. Little Hickman, Kentucky, with school buildings and white and colored churches turned over to the Red Cross for housing people. Evansville with its entire civic auditorium turned over to the chapter as central headquarters, and many other buildings devoted to Red Cross uses, Cincinnati with a similar network of relief centers covering all phases, even special depots for supplying coal, were only high lights typical of countless communities in almost 300 counties either hit by flood or caring for refugees, where cooperative interplay of all kinds of people under the banner of the Red Cross was going forward.

"Comedy and near tragedy have entered into the picture. At Louisville I heard of the colored woman who, when notified to leave her home said she intended "to stay and be rescued." Quite casually, one local citizen told of one of our regular national staff who was still working endlessly in the same shirt he wore into town ten days before, rescuing a man who had fallen into the cold water between two boats. The Chapter Chairman of Evansville, Indiana, and two companions, were near victims of tragedy when their boat collapsed as they were hurrying to a Red Cross meeting. Each locality has its own story, none perhaps richer than those relating to the fortitude of fine country people who for the first time in their lives had been driven from the security of their own acres.

"While the crest of the flood continues to press upon the levees of Arkansas, Mississippi and Louisiana, as it approaches to the sea, sections of the Ohio valley, including West Virginia and Ohio and upper Kentucky, are now viewing the debris and are beginning to think of the phases of family rehabilitation. This is where the Red Cross comes in. Long after many of the agencies of rescue and emergency care have disappeared from the scene, the Red Cross will continue to carry on its ministrations to those families most in need of assistance in the way of refurnishing, repairing, rebuilding and other lines of rehabilitation work. The resources and credit of many will enable them to completely handle their own restoration. Others, however, will not be able to do so without assistance."

Bus Plunges Into Creek North of City

Persons who saw the bus after it came to its tragic stop state that its removal back to the pavement will present a considerable task. A large amount of mud was on the highway and it was not discernible until the vehicle was within a few feet of it. Some of the officers who were attracted to the scene of the accident stated that a veritable landslide of mud had slid down onto the highway.

As soon as the passengers were removed from the bus Driver Wagner returned to Jacksonville and reported the accident to the local police station. The bus company was then notified and a machine was sent after them.

THE 25-MILLIONTH

FORD

HAS JUST BEEN BUILT

IT HAS never occurred before in automobile history that 25 million cars of one make, bearing one name, have been manufactured under one management. The 25,000,000th Ford car rolled off the Ford Rouge Plant production line on January 18, 1937.

25 million cars since 1903 . . . more than one-third of all the cars ever built . . . enough cars to transport the entire population of the United States.

The figures represent a remarkable contribution to the social welfare, the industrial stability and the general progress of our country.

People respect Ford efficiency. They know Ford uses fine materials, the best workmanship at good wages, the most exact precision measurements. They know these things are passed along to purchasers in the form of extra value. Naturally, they like to do business with such a company. That is the only reason it has been required to produce 25 million cars.

Naturally, too, they expect more of a Ford car, more this year than last year — more each year than the year before. They have every right to. The experience gained in building 25,000,000 cars enables Ford to produce today a really superb motor car at a really low price — with the Beauty, Comfort, Safety and Performance of much more expensive cars.

The 1937 Ford V-8 combines advanced design, all-steel construction, extra body room, and brilliant brakes with a choice of two V-type 8-cylinder engines — the most modern type of power-plant on land, sea, or in the air.

The 85-horsepower engine provides top performance with unusually good economy for its high power.

The 60-horsepower engine gives good performance with the greatest gasoline mileage ever built into a Ford car—and wears the lowest Ford price tag in years.

People expect more of a Ford car because it's a Ford — and they get more, for the same reason. It is undeniably the quality car in the low-price field.

SHOE-TOP MUD FAILS TO STOP SCOUT HIKE

Fire Building Contests Tax Ingenuity of Boys

With highways and fields almost shoe-top deep in mud, 30 Boy Scouts of this city engaged in a 17 mile hike Saturday.

They played "steal the flag," with a small creek as one of the boundaries. There were several tussles at the boundary, and some of the Scouts came out of the game wringing wet.

The serious object of the trip was a fire building contest. The leaves on the ground were wet, the wood was wet—in fact everything was wet, including the boys—but they made their fires.

Twenty members of Troop 107 of Grace M. E. church, and 10 members of the Illinois School for the Deaf participated in the hike. They caught rides to Woodson, hoofed it to a timber three miles southwest of there, and had a great time.

The mud seemed a little deeper and a little "gummier" as the Scouts plodded back to Woodson on the return trip. Again they caught rides, but all of the mud wasn't left in the country. Some of it rode home, too, on trousers and boots.

Scoutmaster Bruce Thomson and Jerry Prosterman were in charge of the hike.

Livestock Prices Hit Uneven Trend

Chicago, Feb. 20.—(AP)—Sluggish dressed meat trade, due to mild weather and the restriction of meat eating during Lent offset a reduced supply the past week in the livestock trade. As a result, prices moved unevenly, with hogs declining, lambs advancing and various types of beef going both directions.

Packers showed no disposition to take on fresh slaughter material unless prices were lower. With the retail meat trade slow, there was little change in wholesale prices, except in the case of lamb which moved up 2 cents a pound and mutton, which gained 1 cent.

Modest advances in some classes of cattle were largely forced because of the decline in receipts. Fed steers and yearlings were unchanged to 25 cents higher but the shipping demand was narrow. Some she stock shared in this upturn. Bulls, however, were 10 to 25 cents lower and vealers lost $1. The cattle top remained at $14.50 but the bulk of steers brought $8.50 to $12.50.

Hogs declined 10 to 50 cents, with those weighing above 200 pounds off the least. High feed costs were reflected in the increasing percentage of light hogs and lower quality of receipts.

Fat lambs moved upward 25 to 35 cents, the closing top of $10.85 being only 15 cents below the winter's peak.

The only livestock market action today was in hogs which sold unchanged to a shade lower. Quotable top was $10.25 but the best hogs available sold at $10.10.

Most Stocks Lose In Profit Selling

New York, Feb. 20.—(AP)—Leading steels and coppers tipped the stock market scales for gains of 1 to 3 points today, but many other issues were thrown off balance by profit selling.

As in the preceding session steps of world powers to expand armaments provided the principal buying influence for favorites. Many issues reached new heights since 1931.

At the same time, brokers said, the fact next Monday is a holiday caused some traders to shelve commitments. In addition, others wondered if the advance in certain categories may have been a bit fast.

Besides the improved prospects for companies dealing in war equipments of one sort or another, a supporting factor was the lift of the domestic copper price by a customs smelter to 15 cents a pound, the best level in about 7 years. The principal producers, though, did not immediately follow the boost and quoted the previous figure of 14 cents a pound.

Anaconda was one of the most active jumpers at 64⅛, but Kennecott ended of a shade at 64⅜. Bethlehem Steel shot up to 94⅛ and U. S. Steel ended at 114⅜.

The day's cross currents put the Associated Press average of 60 stocks back .2 of a point at 73.2. The total volume of transfers was the best for a two-hour session in five weeks, amounting to 1,484,730 shares compared with 1,371,060 last Saturday.

Sees Chance for Larger Oat Acreage in 1937

Prospects for an oat acreage this spring in excess of the 3,495,000 acres seeded last year in Illinois make it essential that farmers in need of seed locate as early as possible a supply of an improved variety adapted to the locality, according to George H. Dungan, associate chief in crop production, College of Agriculture, University of Illinois.

Shortage of old legume hay crops killed out by the drouth, shortage of adapted domestic legume seed and shortage of seed in flood areas are factors affecting the expected heavy demand for seed oats. Furthermore, oats provide one of the first hay crops in the spring. With a production of 99,608,000 bushels last year in Illinois, seed is expected to be relatively cheap, it is pointed out.

Best oat varieties for different sections of the state are being singled out in annual tests which the agricultural college is conducting at DeKalb in northern Illinois, at Urbana in central Illinois and at Alhambra in southwestern Illinois.

In northern Illinois, Iowar, Albion and Richland are leading varieties, all of which are varieties that have been developed as selections from Kherson. They are white oats suitable for feed or market.

Leading varieties in central Illinois, grown for a minimum of six years, include Columbia, Burt (Nebraska 293) and Kanota. Columbia is an early, stiff-strawed oat suitable for growing as a feed crop. Burt (Nebraska 293) is an early high yielding oat, not as stiff-strawed as Columbia.

Oat yields were a failure on the Alhambra field last year because of heavy rains. However, in other years oats ranking at the top on the Alhambra field are Brunker, Columbia and Burt (Nebraska 293). Brunker is a red oat which was developed for dryland conditions in Colorado. While it is a good yielding variety, it has a weak straw and for that reason may not be a better choice than the Columbia.

Information on sources of seed may be obtained from the agronomy department of the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois.

28,025 Farm Boys, Girls Enroll in 4-H Club Work

Not content with hanging up new records at fairs and expositions, Illinois' 28,025 4-H club members established new state highs in enrollment and achievement last year, according to E. I. Pilchard and Miss Mary A. McKee, extension specialists in junior club work, College of Agriculture, University of Illinois.

Farm boys and girls of the state who are carrying on projects in better farming and homemaking practices under the supervision of local farm and home advisers and the extension service of the agricultural college entered 1937 with 1,650 more members that at this time last year. Work of 4-H clubs is designed for farm youngsters between the ages of 10 and 20 years and is carried on in each of the 102 counties of the state.

In the agricultural projects 15,337 farm youth are enrolled. Of this number 12,149 completed projects in 1936 for a completion percentage of 79.2 as compared with a percentage of 77.5 the previous year, Pilchard explained.

A total of 892 clubs carried on agricultural projects last year, an increase of 56. However, the number of standard clubs, clubs having five or more members enrolled in the same project, increased from 698 to 815. Of this number 363 were achievement clubs as compared with 226 the previous year. Achievement clubs must meet definite requirements as to meetings, demonstration or judging teams, completed projects and achievement days.

Madison county was the only county in the state to end the year with each agricultural club member completing his project, and Livingston county established what is thought to be a new record with more than 501 members completing projects.

In the strictly home economics projects the 1936 enrollment totaled 12,688 of which 11,046 completed projects for a percentage of 86.4, Miss McKee pointed out. This is a substantial increase over the previous year when the enrollment was 12,149 with 10,347 completions for a percentage of 85.1.

Home economics projects are carried on throughout 1,883 clubs of which 1,155 are standard clubs and 982 are listed as achievement clubs.

BETTER FARMING BRIEFS

The cabbage heralded as odorless when its development was announced at Cornell University Agricultural Experiment Station, of New York, two years ago has been named Cornell Early Savoy.

Although the combined Chinese and Manchurian production of oilseeds last year, including soybeans, sesame seed, peanuts, cotton seed, rapeseed and linseed, was considerably above that of 1935, combined exports are not expected to increase in proportion with the increase in production.

Interstate sales of mixed domestic and imported alfalfa or red clover seed violates the Federal Seed Act.

A common cause of hog poisoning, although seldom identified, is the use of too much salt or dirty brine in the ration.

Downward Plunge Taken by Wheat

Chicago, Feb. 20.—(AP)—Downward plunges of wheat prices today resulting from timely moisture relief for dry districts southwest took the Chicago market 6 cents below the season's high.

An overnight maximum fall of 3⅛ cents a bushel was witnessed here, with lowest prices of the day registered at the last. The drop of 6 cents from the season's top prices record has been all in the present week.

A disturbing factor in Chicago was that Kansas City wheat prices tumbled harder than did the market here, 4 cents a bushel. As a consequence, prices at one time reached a point that would permit profitable shipment of wheat from Kansas City to Chicago.

At the close, Chicago wheat futures were 3¼-3⅜ cents under yesterday's finish, May 132⅜-⅞, July 115¼-⅜, Sept. 112⅛-¼, corn 1¼-1⅜ down, May 106½-⅝, July 102¼-⅜, Sept. 95⅝, oats 1¼-1⅜ off, May 48¼-½, and rye showing 1⅞-3⅛ loss, May 109-109¼. In provisions, the outcome was unchanged to 12 cents lower.

WASHINGTON lived in the days before modern dental surgery, and, as a result, he seldom smiled. All of the pictures made of him in his later years attest to poorly fitted teeth. He kept his lips tightly pressed together to prevent his springy dental plate from leaping from his mouth.

CONFIDENTIAL REPORT

CRIME FILE ON BOLITHO BLANE

BEGIN HERE TODAY

Investigating the murder of BOLITHO BLANE, British financier, aboard CARLTON ROCKSAVAGE'S yacht, Detective Officer KETTERING runs into a maze of conflicting clews.

As the investigation progresses, Kettering learns from REGINALD JOCELYN that Rocksavage possessed the best motive for the crime—financial gain. Moreover, he learned that Rocksavage was able to dress for dinner in four minutes, a feat conceivably enabling him to commit a murder and return to the ship's lounge without creating suspicion. Only NICHOLAS STODART, Blane's secretary, has a complete alibi.

Confronted with Jocelyn's revelation, Rocksavage counters that Jocelyn, too, had a good motive—money. Furthermore, that Japanese agent INOSUKE HAYASHI, stood to lose a million dollars had Blane lived and concluded a merger with Rocksavage, thereby killing the soap monopoly deal Hayashi sought. At the same time LADY WELTER becomes deeper involved when unable to account for her time when the crime was committed.

Hayashi, questioned again by Kettering, admits interest in the soap monopoly, but denies murdering Blane. Then the BISHOP OF BUDE is called in for re-examination. Kettering confronts him with his unsavory past and his old acquaintance with Blane; accuses him of murder. But the Bishop protests his innocence—without a shred of proof.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER XXI

HAVING re-examined all the parties, I proceeded to a new analysis of the situation and composed a fresh draft of possible motives.

* * *

(POSSIBLE MOTIVES No. 2.) 9-1-37.

MRS. JOCELYN.: Nil, as far as is known at the moment but she is in collusion with her husband, supporting his statement that he was in his bath at 7:45, when we know that he was not, and she may or may not have been in her own cabin at that hour.

COUNT POSODINI ALIAS "SLICK" DANIELS.: A motive, in that he admits that it was through Blane's agency that he was sent down for his first term in Sing Sing, and that Jocelyn brought him on board with the deliberate intention of giving him the opportunity of getting even with Blane. It is even possible that Jocelyn may have paid him to do the job, or that they did the job between them. His alibi depends on his being able to prove that Mrs. Jocelyn was in his cabin from 7:45 till 8:10, and this she denies.

MR. ROCKSAVAGE.: Strong motive, and it is now proved, owing to his capability of changing in under four minutes, that he had ample time to commit the crime between 8:10 and 8:30.

THE BISHOP OF BUDE.: Strong motive. In the Bishop's previous statement he said that he had only met Blane casually in an English country house once about seven years ago (1929), whereas he does not now deny that he met Blane in France in 1917.

Blane's letter shows that there was some strong tie up between the two. It now seems certain that this was in connection with the unsavory army scandal.

* * *

LADY WELTER.: Strong motive, owing to the fact that it looks as though she would have been completely bankrupt if the Rocksavage companies had gone under and no longer in a position to finance the group of papers which are her principal life interest.

MR. HAYASHI: Strong motive. It now appears that he stood to lose a considerable sum of money if Blane and Rocksavage had ever got together.

MR. JOCELYN: Strong motive. Lady Welter's bankruptcy would have thrown him back into the precarious existence which he was leading between 1923 and 1931, with the additional burden of a wife to support. It is now proved that he told a direct lie in his early statement where he said that he was in his bath at 7:45, since Mr. Rocksavage met him in the passage still unchanged at 8:10. Moreover, "Slick" Daniels' evidence goes to show that Jocelyn had deliberately invited him on board in the hope that he might square accounts with Blane.

MISS ROCKSAVAGE: Nil, as far as is known at the moment.

The foregoing examinations and the writing of the report have occupied me all morning and at the moment I admit that I am completely baffled. Only the two stewards, the ship's carpenter and Stodart are conclusively ruled out, it having been quite impossible for any of them, or any other member of the crew to commit this crime.

Against Miss Rocksavage and the Hon. Mrs. Jocelyn we have no evidence of motive, although both of them had opportunity.

On the other hand there was motive and, in many cases, very strong motive against Count Posodini, Mr. Rocksavage, the Bishop of Bude, Lady Welter, Mr. Hayashi and the Hon. Reginald Jocelyn; and all of these had opportunity.

A further report will follow this evening.

KEYS KETTERING,
Detective Officer,
Florida Police.

1:35 p. m., 9-1-37, on S. Y. Golden Gull.

* * *

DETECTIVE OFFICER KETTERING'S FIFTH REPORT.

AFTER lunch today Mr. Rocksavage came to me and said that he would like to make a formal statement.

He then sent for Doctor Ackland, his personal doctor, who always travels with him, and in the presence of the doctor, Detective Officer Neame and myself, he made the following voluntary statement.

As a man who is responsible for many millions of other people's money, I have been subject to bouts of acute worry at times, when my affairs have not been going well. In consequence, a few years ago, I took to the habit of administering drugs to myself by injection; their purpose being not to allay nerves but to key me up for further efforts at times when I was suffering from severe strain.

Dr. Ackland has always prepared these injections for me and, on the night in question, I brought him down to my cabin with me for this purpose, as I anticipated having to enter into a strenuous conference with Blane that night after dinner. It was customary for me to rest for a quarter of an hour after the injection, in order that the drug might take effect. I did so on this occasion. Dr. Ackland remained with me until I had changed and went up to the lounge for dinner.

Carlton Rocksavage.

* * *

DETECTIVE OFFICER NEAME'S SHORTHAND NOTES OF DETECTIVE OFFICER KETTERING'S EXAMINATION OF DR. FRANK ACKLAND, Ph. S. D., F. C. S. B.

K.: Doctor, you have just vouched for this statement of Mr. Rocksavage, that you went below with him at 8:10. You are quite certain that is correct?

A.: Yes.

K.: But you weren't in the lounge with him?

A.: No. I was sitting just outside, enjoying the evening air on deck. As Mr. Rocksavage passed the deck entrance of the lounge he saw me and beckoned. I knew at once what he wanted, so I got up without a word and followed him down.

K.: You had to come into the lounge to follow him down the companion-way though.

A.: Yes. A few steps, that's all, as the companion-way is within a couple of yards of the deck entrance.

K.: No one in the lounge seems to have noticed you. Don't you think that strange?

A.: Cane, the lounge steward, saw me. Ask him if you doubt my word, and Mr. Jocelyn, too. Mr. Rocksavage and I passed him in the passage-way below.

K.: Thanks, doctor. If the lounge steward saw you I guess that will do.

Angel food cake, red and white mints, ice cream and coffee were served during the seventh, eighth and ninth dances. A specialty feature was provided by Mary Browning, Mary Pascoe and Doris Overby, who sang with the orchestra at various times during the evening. They wrote their own harmonizations.

Tiny programs of white mother of pearl with the MacMurray seal stamped in gold on the corner were presented to each guest. The decorations of ferns and cut flowers made the social room a fitting background for the evening's festivities.

Lecture on Supreme Court to Be Given At College Here

Harry Laidler, Socialist, to Be Speaker at MacMurray Monday

With the most discussed public question of the hour as his topic Harry W. Laidler of New York will appear before a MacMurray Lecture Series audience at MacMurray Music Hall tomorrow evening. Just what views Mr. Laidler entertains on "The Supreme Court Crisis," his announced subject, is unknown to the MacMurray committee. As the speaker is a life-long Socialist neither a New Deal nor a conservative approach is likely.

Mr. Laidler, a college friend of President McClelland, is generally conceded to be the leading intellect of the Socialist party. While an undergraduate at Wesleyan University, Middletown, Conn., he was associated with Jack London and Upton Sinclair in organizing the Intercollegiate Socialist Society. After a few years as a newspaper reporter Mr. Laidler became secretary of this organization. He is still executive secretary, although the society changed its name to the League for Industrial Democracy."

Author in Economics

In 1914 the speaker received the Ph. D. degree in economics from Columbia University, and it is for his economic writings that he is chiefly famous. His best-known and most learned works are "A History of Socialist Thought" and "Concentration of Control in American Industry." His last work, published in 1936, "A Program for America," has been listed as one of the most worthwhile books of the year. He has also written "Socialism in Thought and Action," "The Road Ahead," and "Socializing Our Democracy."

He has been president of the National Society for Economic Research, and is a member of the Social Service Commission of the Federal Council of Church of Christ.

As chairman of the Economics Committee of the National Advisory Council on Radio in Education, Dr. Laidler has planned an extensive program of nationwide broadcasts on "Economics in a Changing Social Order," during the past two years. Last fall he found time to run for the office of Governor of New York on the Socialist ticket.

The lecture will be held in Music hall and will begin at half past eight.

Checker Artists to Hold 2 Tourneys

County Contest Mar. 1 Will Be Followed by Five County Tournament

The County Checker tournament to be held at the City Hall, March 1st, is creating much interest in villages and towns throughout the county in an effort to discover a champion to represent Morgan County in the Five county checker Tourney to be held beginning March 29th.

Play will start in Franklin this week end and a tourney is scheduled to begin Monday evening at Waverly, sponsored by the W. P. A. recreation center to find representatives to the Jacksonville tournament. Concord has all ready completed its meet and James Simpson and Wm. Gaines will represent that village in the county contest.

At the area meeting of W. P. A. recreation leaders held Thursday, superintendents from Cass, Greene, Morgan and Scott Counties stated plans would be made at once to hold meets to find two players to represent their counties in the Five County tourney. Word has been received from the Superintendent of the Brown County W. P. A. Recreation project indicating that county will be represented at that time.

Can of Beans Brings Message Here From Flood Stricken Area

Girl Writes from Shawneetown About High Water From River

A can of beans may sometimes be used for other purposes than filling a necessary part of a daily menu, even carrying a message of good cheer and companionship to flood bound sufferers who are hungry for food and friendship.

Little Martha Lee Myers, 766 South Church street, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Myers, took part of her money for flood relief and purchased a can of beans for the donation sent to southern Illinois from the local public schools. She also wrote her name and address on the side of the label, and this week received a grateful and interesting reply from the person who received them.

The letter came from a young woman, a former resident of Shawneetown before the black, rolling waters of the Ohio completely submerged the homes of the entire population.

"Dear Unknown Friend:

"I happen to be the lucky one to get the can of beans with your name on the side of the can. They were very nice and we thank you from the bottom of our hearts.

"There are six of us,—my dad and sister, aunt and uncle, and the elderly lady who shared her home with us. Her house is on top of a big hill about 1½ miles from Shawneetown. We can see a great deal of the town from here and the day they cut the levee to let the water in was right across a field from us. We could stand on the porch and see it roll and fill up the town.

"The river reached the stage of 67½ feet, so you know that is "some water." This is my first time to ever see anything like it.

"You can't begin to know how it is if you never have been around water. We have a lovely river—when it is in banks.

"Everything I have is under water. Some of the homes are completely gone. It is dreadful to see.

"I hope you are not disappointed in this letter, and I would like to hear from you

"I am 25 years old, 5 feet, three and a half inches tall and weigh 104 pounds. I have jet black naturally curly hair, olive skin, and for pleasures I like dancing, reading and all kinds of fancy work.

"I keep house for my dad, two sisters, and I have two brothers away. I am not married.

"I will answer all letters from you and answer any questions you care to ask about the flood or the town.

"I will close hoping to get an answer from you.

"An Unknown Friend,
"Madge Joyner,
"Shawneetown, Illinois."

Blackburn Makes Record As Mayor

Mayor Fletcher J. Blackburn has made an enviable record as Jacksonville's chief executive. During his administration he has reduced taxes, plans for a municipal power and light plant have progressed and a program for a more adequate water supply has been launched. He has balanced the city budget.

Mayor Blackburn has kept campaign promises made in 1935. He merits the support of Republican voters of Jacksonville. (Pol. Adv.)

Stratton Engaged In Forum Program

Discusses Question of Income, Distribution of Wealth in Texas

Professor H. J. Stratton of the Illinois College faculty who is engaged at present in federal public forum work in Waco Texas, is discussing the question of income and distribution of wealth, according to a letter received here recently. Professor Stratton was granted a leave of absence for a semester from Illinois College in order that he might enter the work. At present he is at Waco Texas, but will be transferred to another center in about six weeks.

The I. C. professor speaks every night before a group of citizens at various centers around Waco. After talking for approximately half an hour, the forum leader turns the meeting into a public discussion and leads the persons attending the center in a discussion of the question at hand.

In addition to his regular work as a forum leader Professor Stratton has been much in demand as a luncheon speaker and as a participant in panel discussions. Monday, February 15 Professor Stratton, along with Dr. Charles N. Burrows and Dr. Royden Dangerfield took part in a discussion of the supreme court situation over Station WACO.

The McClennan Falls Forum at Waco is one of nine new demonstration centers set up in nine different states by the United States Office of Education to supplement the ten already in operation. It is an institution devoted to a program of presenting all sides of important issues and to providing an opportunity for absolutely free inquiry into important problems.

Three Men at Waco

At the present time the three men located at Waco are discussing the income question set forth by Professor Stratton, the question of neutrality and armaments, and the American crime problem. Every effort is made to research fully into the questions and then to present them in an enlightening manner that will provoke discussion. The center at Waco is reaching an average of 1200 persons a week.

Jacksonville Voters To Nominate City Candidates Tuesday

Jacksonville voters will go to the polls next Tuesday to nominate candidates for mayor, city clerk, city treasurer and aldermen. Republicans and Democrats will choose office aspirants to represent their respective parties at the city election next April with numerous contests being features on the two ballots that will be voted upon when the polls open Tuesday morning. The polling places in the 16 precincts of the city will open at six o'clock in the morning and close at five o'clock in the evening.

If public activity is a guage by which the number of votes that will be dropped into ballot boxes Tuesday are to be estimated the balloting will be light, since the campaigning has been conducted quietly by candidates on the two tickets. Unless there is a meeting between this morning and Tuesday morning the election will be held without there having been a public meeting for any candidate.

Various candidates have held meetings in residences and downtown store rooms, but these political sessions were more in the nature of precinct or ward gatherings than anything else. The campaign has been quiet despite the fact there are many contests including the mayoralty races being staged by members of both the Republican and Democratic parties.

Mayoralty Nominations

Interest has naturally centered in the contests for the mayoralty nominations. In the contest for the Republican nomination are Mayor Fletcher J. Blackburn, seeking re-election after having served one term in office; Lee Stice, former county assessor; Ben Denney, second ward alderman; George Brown, fourth ward alderman and Thomas Buckthorpe.

Two of these candidates have downtown headquarters, the Blackburn forces occupying rooms in the Morrison block on West State street and Stice supporters operating from rooms over the Jacksonville Bus Line company on the east side of the public square. Other Republican candidates have carried on their campaigns thruout the city thru personal work and with the aid of friends.

Three Democratic candidates seek the mayoralty nomination. Deputy Sheriff H. H. Vasconcellos; Oyer T. Wright, former sheriff of the county and Gabe Chrisman. Because of an injury Vasconcellos has been unable to carry on a personal campaign and has been relying on friends to secure his nomination. Wright and Chrisman have been carrying on personal campaigns.

No Contests

There are no contests for the city clerk and city treasurer nominations. City Clerk John R. Phillips, seeking re-election, on the Democratic ticket and Robert L. Keating, Republican, are unopposed for the nomination. Carl Hamilton, former city treasurer, is unopposed for the Republican nomination for treasurer and there is no Democratic candidate.

Aldermanic candidates in the first ward are Ralph Green, incumbent; William J. Schneider, Francis Allen and John W. Baptist, on the Republican ticket, and Alderman John Early and James J. Flynn, Democrats.

Second ward candidates for the aldermanic posts include Joseph E. Darush, Republican and Ralph C. Cowgur and Bert Smith, Democrats. There is a three way fight for the Republican nomination for alderman in the third ward between Randolph Little, Lloyd Wells and A. B. Nance, while Alderman Ray Harmon and T. C. Chumley are unopposed for nomination.

There are three candidates for the two aldermanic places on both tickets in the fourth ward. The Republican contestants are Edwin R. Franklin, Ernest L. Hoagland and John K. Furry. Democrats seeking the nomination include R. E. LeBeau, Alderman Robert A. Weaver and Sherman Smith.

There are four aldermanic candidates to be nominated in each ward.

Polling places for Tuesday are as follows:

Four Candidates Seek Nomination To Scott Office

Three Democrats, One Republican File for Commissioner Office

Winchester, Feb. 20.—Bert Wills, county clerk of Scott county, announced this evening that four petitions had been filed by candidates for the Democratic nomination for county commissioner, and that one petition had been filed by a Republican candidate for the nomination. The Democratic candidates, who have filed petitions for the nomination, include James Landes, who is chairman of the present county board, A. C. Booz, cashier of the First State Bank of Winchester, C. E. Marshall of the Marshall Chevrolet Company, and Russell Lovell of Sandy precinct. Fred Vaughn of the South Winchester precinct, is the only Republican candidate seeking the nomination.

Monday is the last day for filing petitions, but since the county clerk's office will be closed that day to observe a legal holiday, petitions will probably be received the following day.

The cost of the primary election for county commissioner was saved in Scott county two years ago by each party placing only one candidate in the field. However, it is unlikely that this can be accomplished this year since there are already four candidates who have filed petition for the Democratic nomination.

A. T. A. Holds Meet.

A large number of the members of the Scott County Sub Order of the Anti-Thief Association met in the Odd Fellows building yesterday evening. Jake Christison, president of the Sub Order, presided at the meeting and Curtis E. Pulliam was in charge of a class of ten candidates who were initiated. Following the work, refreshments were served in Wildey hall.

President Christison announced that the Sub Order would hold a pot luck supper for the members, their wives and guests, at the Odd Fellows building, March 3, at 7:00 o'clock in the evening, which will be followed by a dance at Markillie's hall.

Woman's Club to Meet.

The Literary and Civics Department of the Winchester Woman's Club will be entertained at a party in observation of Washington's birthday at the home of Mrs. Ralph Riggs Monday afternoon, February 22.

Members in charge of the program for the afternoon include: Mrs. Oren Robertson, Mrs. Henry Corrie, Mrs. J. R. Hubbard and Mrs. Fannie Shipley. The refreshments committee includes: Mrs. Clayton Stewart, Miss Bertha Miner, Mrs. John King and Mrs. Harry Pine.

Richard won first place in the County contest held at Bluffs last November.

Mrs. Roy Phears entertained the members of her bridge club at her home Friday evening. Refreshments were served.

The Misses Mary and Martha Waid, who are attending school at Macomb, are spending the week end at their home here.

Miss Maureen Weinrick, who has been visiting at the home of Dr. and Mrs. W. E. Harper, left today for her home in Chester, Illinois.
